By Katie Steinberger While many of us think of money and the lack of money when talking about the economy, or the intersection of government and business, there are many ways in which our government can be an economic player in Oregon. Voting for those measures matters, since a basic tenet of Democracy is that we are all equal before the law. We can read about the ways in which our government can create jobs through taxation in this article from OregonLive. Just because a tax doesn't directly create a job, the money the government collects that is not spent on anything is money that is not being spent by someone. That is time and talent that isn't being used by someone, and because it isn't spent, the government still gets more money by lowering how much it needs to collect. A great example of this is the Multnomah County employees' health insurance exchange. By shifting their current insurance costs into a fund, the county is now able to extend its network and boost its customer base, while collecting more revenue. The Linn County employees are also doing it, for their own employees. The county has had a lot of difficulty getting an ERP system up and running, and the insurance exchange is allowing it to do what it takes to get the job done. Also, these initiatives are limited to public sector employees. Once the insurance exchange is running, the county can begin talking with its private sector employees, offering them similar benefits. (You can read more about how this will work here.) Recently, the Oregon Health Authority, led by Governor Kitzhaber, has made a $30 million investment in small businesses across Oregon to do everything from helping small businesses hire employees to creating training for small businesses to help them succeed. This is another example of a government-sponsored initiative that is helping the private sector succeed. It also goes to show how government dollars can be used in unexpected ways. If government isn't doing something, a company isn't going to invest their time and money. To read about the many innovative ways that our government affects the economy in Oregon, check out: Many people don't know that it is also possible to have a tax cut. For most people, the better understanding of what taxes are is what you pay when you make purchases. Many people aren't aware that there is a sales tax. We also have a cigarette and alcohol tax. We Eavesdropping and the Numerical Data Packet Envelope. To understand eavesdropping in packet-switched networks, we introduce an eavesdropping model based on the receipt of a fixed number of numerical data packets with independent nonzero numbers. We show that these packets can be modeled by a classical symmetric real Wishart matrix whose orthogonal complement gives the eavesdropper's uncertainty about the distribution of the received numerical data. We derive the boundary between detection and eavesdropping on the basis of this uncertainty. Our results show that eavesdropping is not always detectable, indicating that the detection of eavesdropping plays an important role in the design of secure packet-switched networks. @charset "UTF-8"; .sp-dialog { height: 750px; .sp-button-box { margin-top: 100px; .sp-button { height: 135px; &:hover { background-color: #f5f5f5; } &:active, &:focus { background-color: #ccc; } } } } .sp-content-dialog { padding-top: 100px; .sp-header { background-color: #00ccff; &.sp-demo-header { background-color: #00ccff; } } .sp-content { background-color: #fff; border-top: 1px solid #ccc; } }
